

long way to roam

well i heard that you are still sad that you struggle to move on from what we had but i call it the past, i guess that you're still mad that i left you with all ur doubts and pain but i was not ur man i needed my own path

There's a long //way to roam but i wont be traveling on the same road cause we now have our own//

No need to hurt yourself that bad None of your tears would bring me back dont hold the grudge on me you better get back on your tracks

Some day you ll find the one and build that family life you always dreamed of but i was not the father you belived i was

There's a long //way to roam but i wont be traveling on the same
road cause we now have our own//

No matter how hard you try this scar will never heal Dont dwell too much on the past look foward for once just try yourself at last you've got so many roads ahead !